The Global Identity Foundation

Empowering Your Digital Identity

The Global Identity Foundation exists to develop and define

Every individuals ability to control and assert their Digital Identity and to enable trustworthy digital interactions

through open standards

The time is now!

The Internet affects all our lives, mostly making our lives better.

But Spam, Fraud, Phishing and Cyber Crime succeeds by being able to steal identities and impersonate individuals.

The missing link is the connection of the person to their digital identity; the ability to conclusively prove to a remote party that it's truly you using that digital persona.

A strong digital linkage to the individual has the ability to reduce or eliminate many forms of Cyber Crime.

Each of us knows how to identify people in the real world. Faces, introductions, previous interactions allow us to choose who we deal with and in what situations. Building on the work of the Jericho Forum, the Global Identity Foundation aims to introduce a truly global approach to solving the trusted linkage of the individual to a digital identifier.

Governments are proposing that they, or corporations authorized by them, should be the sole holder of an individual digital identity - taking identity from the hands of the citizen and placing it in grand centralized databases.

The Global Identity Foundation returns strong identification back to the citizen to give the individual full control of who they choose to interact with and in what situations.

This Core Identifier technology has the potential to stop cybercrime, and put individuals back in control of who they trust in their digital lives.

The time is now; there is an historic opportunity to make the single biggest contribution to both Internet and Information Security, but it needs you to get involved today!
